Tuition

The annual tuition fee commencing September 2022 is £13,000.00. To attend the course, you must be resident in the UK for the duration of the 3 year course commencing September 1st 2022. The annual fee will only change in line with UK inflation from year one to year two to year three.

If you are a UK citizen (a current UK passport is required) you qualify for a reduced tuition fee which is estimated to be £7,100.00 in September 2022. Subject to the RSN raising the funds, the fees for UK students will remain the same for each year of the course. You may also qualify for additional bursaries which can be applied for in October of each academic year. Information on these can be found on the FTP home page (www.royal-needlework.org.uk/courses/future-tutors-programme). Please note: non-UK citizens are ineligible for reduced fees at this time but may apply for some of the bursaries.

The Future Tutor Programme is not government funded, and therefore students are not eligible for student loans or grants, however we do our best to keep costs down as much and as often as possible. As it is essential that you are able to fund your tuition and living costs while attending the 3 year programme, please think carefully about how you will do this.

How do you intend to fund your studies?
